

MONSTER WELCOME HOME FOR CARDINAL

Elevator Accident Mortally Hurts Baby and Nurse Girl

Weather-Unsettled To-Night and Thursday; Warmer.

FINAL
EDITION.

PRICE ONE CENT.

Copyright, 1912, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World).

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1912.

18 PAGES

PRICE ONE CENT.

The

World

"Circulation Books Open to All."

"Circulation Books Open to All."

FINAL
EDITION.

Weather-Unsettled To-Night and Thursday; Warmer.

LEGALLY DEAD TWO YEARS, CRUIKSHANK, FOUND HERE, HAS VANISHED ONCE MORE

President of Up-State School
Known as 'Douglass' After Supposed Drowning.

$20,000 POLICY PAID.

Missing Man Recognized Here
Long After Family Had Mourned Him.

The return, as if from the dead, of Baron Cruikshank, once President of the Clarkson Memorial Institute of Technology of Potsdam, N. Y., and his strange disappearance again, was the subject of much talk to-day among Cruikshank's friends in this city. The new turn in the odd life of this visionary man has also had the effect of prostrating his father, James Cruikshank, whose home is at No. 206 South Oxford street, Brooklyn. The elder Cruikshank has been one of the best known of Brooklyn's school principals, and was at one time State superintendent of Public Instruction.

It was in June, 1910, that Baron Cruikshank was reported as having been drowned in the St. Lawrence River, on the banks of which he lived. A canoe in which he had been passing between his home and Morris-town was found upset. Search was made for months for the missing man. When no trace was found of him he was given up as lost, and some months after his supposed death he was declared officially dead by the Surrogate of Jefferson County.

LIFE INSURANCE OF $20,000 WAS COLLECTED.

Cruikshank left a life insurance policy for $20,000 in favor of his wife. This amount was collected and there never entered into the minds of the members of his family any thought that he could be alive.

It now develops that Cruikshank has been in New York City since last August, at least. At that time a man known as Donald Douglass opened an engineering office here and lived at No. 19 West Thirty-first street. He was recognized by Adm. Gen. William V. Meade and by George W. Fuller of Potsdam, who had been Mrs. Cruikshank's attorney. Since then, however, Cruikshank has disappeared again and the report is that he has gone to Porto Rico.

A member of the Cruikshank family said to-day that there could be no doubt of the real identity of "Donald Douglass." He said:

"Baron Cruikshank was always a man of big ideas. He was at all times a visionary. He was graduated from the Polytechnic Institute in Brooklyn and while in that institution was considered one of its greatest athletes. While he was going to school his family lived in Flatbush.

"About ten or eleven years ago Baron was associated with the Brady Manufacturing Company of Brooklyn. After that he went to Memphis, Tenn. He worked as an engineer and accumulated a fortune."

(Continued on Last Page.)

WOODROW WILSON HERE; SILENT ABOUT HARVEY.

New Jersey Governor Refuses To Talk About Withdrawal Of Support of Harper's Weekly.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey came to town from Trenton this afternoon and persisted in maintaining silence concerning the statement in the current issue of Harper's Weekly that he had requested Col. Harvey, editor of the publication, to cease boomerang him for President, as a Harper's Weekly would do him more harm than good.

Walter F. McDermott, Gov. Wilson's business manager, met him at the station and conducted him to the Ritz-Carlton, No. 4 West Forty-fourth street. The New Jersey Governor was accompanied by Assistant Corporation Counsel Dudley Field Malone, a son-in-law of Senator O'Gorman, and Walter Meskley.

Mr. Wilson will leave New York to-night for Detroit. To-morrow night he will speak in Detroit before the League of Democratic Clubs and be the guest of honor at a reception by the State League of Free Clubs. He will also address the Detroit Chamber of Commerce. From Detroit he will go to Ann Arbor and Grand Rapids, delivering addresses in both cities.

CHILD IS CRUSHED BY ELEVATOR, GIRL FALLS DOWN WELL

Lift Suddenly Shoots Up as Nurse Is Wheeling Go-Cart In.

BOTH MORTALLY HURT.

Maid Plunges Five Stories,
Little Boy Is Caught and Terribly Injured.

Frances Ackerman, twenty-one years old, nurse girl in the family of Louis Roggen, who lives on the fifth floor of the Morris Apartments, No. 261 West One Hundred and Tenth street, and her two and a half year old charge, Mitchell Roggen, were mortally injured in an elevator accident this afternoon as the girl sought to wheel the child, in its go-cart, into the elevator.

John Reynolds of No. 25 West One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street, had charge of the elevator and brought it up to the fifth floor on the girl's signal. When the door was opened the girl started forward with the go-cart. She got it in half way when the lift suddenly shot up. Reaching up to catch the handle of the go-cart, the girl lost her balance and plunged into the well, falling five stories to the cement pavement below.

The elevator man made frantic efforts to save the child, but could not stop the lift before the go-cart had been caught between the steel framework of the doorway and the floor of the car. The child was terribly crushed. His skull was fractured and his left lung punctured.

Mrs. Roggen, mother of the little boy, got into the hall just as the elevator man released the go-cart and let it down into the hallway. She swooned when she saw what had happened. Reynolds did not wait to make explanations, but took the child down to the main floor and hurried from the building.

When Policeman Thomas Fleming was called in, it was necessary to put ladders down into the elevator well to lift out the body of the injured girl. She was unconscious and desperately hurt. The surgeon who took her to J. Hood Wright Hospital said he did not think it possible for her to survive. Her right thigh was fractured, several ribs were broken and she was suffering from concussion of the brain and internal injuries.

Several physicians were called in to minister to the injured child and it was their opinion that he could not survive.

COURT-HOUSE SAGS AGAIN AND CRACKS APPEAR IN WALL

White Street Side of Building
Opens Up Old Wounds and a New One.

The Criminal Courts Building, notoriously a badly built structure, took its second serious lurch in about two years, this afternoon, and a crack an inch and a half wide opened in the second floor wall on the White street side, between the Court House and the City Hall. At the same time all the old cracks, which had been neatly filled with plaster and painted over after the last big quake, opened up and spilled out the plaster.

No one accompanied the crack. Court attendants noticed the fissure in the wall and notified the District Attorney and the judges. Inasmuch as the building did not fall in the last time the walls cracked—though it was temporarily abandoned—there was no excitement to-day and the courts continued in session.

For more than a year workmen have been making permanent abutments in place of the heavy timbers which have shored up the building since the 1906 scare.

MARDI GRAS AT NEW ORLEANS.

Cardinal Farley, Wearing His New Hat On Ride Up Broadway to Cathedral

(Photographed Specially by an Evening World Photographer).

Cardinal Farley Brings Message From Pope Pius.

Before landing from the ship Cardinal Farley delivered the following message to the American people sent by Pope Pius X:

"The Pope admires your hospitable land, where all nations and all peoples are welcome and insured a well ordered liberty, and for the well being of whom universal provision is made. I pray for the great future of your country, and believe that your country has such a future in the line of each man knowing how to use his own liberty with limitations with regard to his neighbors. America, I realize, knows what real liberty is, and I am fully alive to the future not alone of the Church but of the land as well, and my earnest prayer is that her greatness shall go on."

TWO POOR FAMILIES STARVING IN HOMES

Cases of Destitution So Impress Police That They Collect a Fund.

Two cases of destitution arrested the police of the Liberty Avenue station, Brooklyn, in such sympathy today that they collected money to help the families. The first case was that of a family of six, including a mother and five children, who had been living in a tenement on Liberty Avenue for six months and had not been paid for rent. The second case was that of a family of four, including a mother and three children, who had been living in a tenement on Liberty Avenue for six months and had not been paid for rent. The police collected money from the community to help these families.

CROWD OVERWHELMS CARDINAL FARLEY ON RETURN TO CATHEDRAL

Broadway and Fifth Avenue Jammed
With Respectful Thousands as the Newly Created Dignitary
Was Driven to His Home.

BEARS GREETING FROM POPE TO FREEDOM LOVING AMERICA

Flags and Whistles Give Merry
Welcome to New Prelate in Ride Down the Hudson.

With voice and hands trembling, Cardinal Farley gave his blessing to an immense assemblage in the Cathedral at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon and brought to a close what was in many respects the most remarkable reception given to a homecoming citizen in the history of this city.

For three hours the newly-made Cardinal had been passing through unmistakable evidences of his personal popularity and of the practically universal respect in which his high office is held by the people of his own community.

It was an overwhelming greeting to a man of peace, a church dignitary, and approached in numbers of persons participating only by the reception to Col. Roosevelt on the occasion of his homecoming from Africa. The demonstration was a striking tribute to liberality of religious thought in the United States, and especially in the metropolis of the nation.

Hundreds of thousands of citizens of all shades of religious belief and of no religious belief at all stood respectfully, with uncovered heads, while the carriage bearing the scarlet-clad, white-haired Prince of the Church moved slowly up Broadway and Fifth Avenue. Roman Catholics in great armies swarmed all along the line of march, but their evidence of respect was no more sincere than that shown by the non-Catholics.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.

The Cardinal was inexpressibly gratified by the warmth and strength of his greeting which grew in vigor and enthusiasm as he progressed up town and reached his home at the Cathedral where his carriage at the Cathedral where thousands of school children greeted him with song. His reception was quite over the top of emotion. He had not expected such a tribute to the high office to which he was recently elevated by the Pope.